RE: Key Findings: United States Senate Race, Arizona: 2022 Republican Primary Election
DATE: April 11, 2022

Key Poll Findings

The latest polling conducted by Remington Research Group reveals Jim Lamon's continued surge and now clear status as the frontrunner in the Republican Primary Election for United States Senate in Arizona. The poll, commissioned by the Lamon campaign, shows Lamon's growth in both image and ballot share from our prior survey, completed in mid-February.

Lamon continues to enjoy the most favorable image of all candidates in race and is steadily growing his ballot lead over the field. Additionally, voters continue to view him as the most credible candidate on both border security and election integrity.

Ballot:

Data shows Lamon enjoys a higher ballot share than any other candidate in the Republican Primary.

Brnovich, the next closest candidate has fallen 12-points behind Lamon. Blake Masters continues to lose ballot share and is now in a distant third place, at 9%. With over one-third of the electorate still undecided, Lamon still has plenty of room to continue to grow his ballot share momentum in the next few months leading up to the election.

Jim Lamon: 32%
Blake Masters: 9%
Mark Brnovich: 20%
Mick McGuire: 3%
Justin Olson: 2%
Undecided: 35%

Images:

Lamon has the highest favorable image. Lamon's net image jumped more than any other candidate: +10 points (from net +20% favorable in the February poll to net +30% in April).

Additionally, Lamon continues to thrive with conservative voters. The more conservative a Republican Primary voter is, the more likely they are to view Lamon favorably. 51% of self-identified "very conservative" voters view Lamon favorably.

Q: What is your opinion of Jim Lamon?	Q: What is your opinion of Blake Masters?	Q: What is your opinion of Mark Brnovich?

Issue Credibility:

Voters were again asked which candidate they find to be the most credible on two leading issues: border security and election integrity. Lamon continues to garner the most credibility among Republican

Primary voters on these issue topics – in fact, voter's intensity of trusting Lamon has grown significantly since February.

Q: When thinking about illegal immigration and the crisis at the border, which of the following candidates do you trust the most to fight to control and secure our southern border?

Jim Lamon: 29%
Blake Masters: 9%
Mark Brnovich: 16%
Mick McGuire: 3%
Justin Olson: 1%
Not sure: 42%

Q: And which of the following candidates do you believe has the most credibility on election integrity and will fight the most aggressively to ensure our elections are fair and secure?

Jim Lamon: 25%
Blake Masters: 8%
Mark Brnovich: 20%
Mick McGuire: 2%
Justin Olson: 1%
Not sure: 44%

Conclusion:
While our survey shows the largest lead yet for Lamon, this is the second poll in as many weeks that shows Lamon with a statistically significant lead over Brnovich and Masters in a distant third place.
